Directions to Wildcliff

Gysmanshoek Pass Road, Heidelberg,
Western Cape, South Africa

- Wildcliff is northeast of Heidelberg, about 22km by road from the N2 highway.
- Coming from Port Elizabeth/George: Easiest way is to miss out Heidelberg. The turnoff from the N2 is just before Heidelberg (see map). Turn right shortly after the sign pointing to Tradouw Pass (Heidelberg would be the next turning right). (Start your odometer.) Soon turn right again onto the tar road heading north, passing the Golf and Bowling Club on your left. Cross the railroad line. Tar road becomes dirt road. After about 7.7km, turn right at the road marked "Wadrift, Seekoeigat, Gysmanshoek Pass."
- Wildcliff is about 11.4 km from this turnoff. Road zig zags up and up. Pass cell tower at top of a hill, drive on and slowly descend all the way down to weir (always wet). Drive on up, round and down past pink houses and a white house with a stone wall on right. Continue up for another ~2km and look out for white stone cutting on right (the road is cut out of the stone, very distinctive natural white rock). The gate to Wildcliff is around the corner from here, on the left side of the road. There is a large rock on the left of the gate, and a sign saying "Wildcliff."
- Cross through the neighbour's farm through a second gate, reaching the river, total 1.7km (see second map below). This is the entry to Wildcliff Reserve itself. Follow the dirt road 800m uphill to the house.
- Coming from Cape Town: Pass entrance to Heidelberg town and carry on to the next turn off to left (no sign). Turn left onto this road, start odometer, then right onto the tar road, and follow the instructions as above.
